

Fort Leonard Wood Joint Land Use Study Community Meetings

The Meramec Regional Planning Commission (MRPC) will be hosting a series of community meetings in March to provide information to the public about the ongoing Joint Land Use Study (JLUS) process for Fort Leonard Wood and the surrounding communities. Meetings will be held in the following locations:

St. Robert – Monday March 11th at 7:00 p.m. at the St. Robert Municipal Center, Municipal Court Room

Lebanon – Tuesday March 12th at 6:00 p.m. at the Cowen Civic Center

Houston – Monday March 25th at 7:00 p.m. at the Texas County Justice Center

The purpose of the Joint Land Use Study is to assist Fort Leonard Wood and the surrounding communities in identifying practical steps that can be taken to foster compatible land use around the installation and to enhance regional cooperation and coordination on land use matters and other issues of mutual importance. These meetings will provide residents with background information regarding the JLUS, including the study process and background research that has been conducted to date. Future meetings will be held throughout the region to present the study's findings following the analysis phase of the project. For additional information, please visit www.FortLW-JLUS.com or contact the Meramec Regional Planning Commission at (573) 265-2993.